Join me and the Butte Environmental Council (BEC), Smart Growth Advocates (SGA) and the Sierra Club in opposition to the Valley's Edge development, a sprawling 2,777 residential development that would be located on 1448 acres between Stilson Canyon and Honey Run Road. This pristine and natural environment – habitat to several endangered species and treasured, irreplaceable open space – will be lost forever to yet another unnecessary housing development that will only continue the decades-old model of urban encroachment on the natural environment, a beautiful landscape that is one of the primary reasons we live in Chico. We must raise our voices for the protection of air, water and land. We must ensure a healthy and sustainable environment for future generations. Valley's Edge development represents the short-term gain that leads to wealth for the few and the negative impacts of increased traffic congestion, dirty air, reduced water supplies and loss of natural land that benefits the majority. It is time to make a positive difference for our community and for the earth that sustains us. Write the Chico Planning Commission, the Chico City Council, the ER and the News and Review. Attend public hearings in early December. Thanks for joining me. Your voice counts!!
